President's Report

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself to you. My name is Pam Simpson and I am your new

Pam Simpson

President of the Paint Horse Association of Australia. Many of you will know me due to my previous involvement with various show horses, however, some of you may not. I have been involved with Paint Horses since 1998, when we purchased our first Paint Horse. I was, like most of our members, taken by the nature and beauty of these wonderful horses, and soon became fully involved in the breeding and showing of them through my stallion – Dressed In Western.

Since that time, I have been involved in showing various horses and was also involved as the Vice President of the NSW Paint Horse Association for two years. During this period, the NSW Paint Horse Association was the first western breed to have a State Titles at the exclusive AELEC centre in Tamworth. More recently, I became a Board member and following the Annual General Meeting, held at the 2010 National Show was elected as your new President.

The new Board of Directors has a huge task in front of us in bringing this Association up to the standard upon all of you wish to be. That is no easy task, as there are several major milestones to overcome. Already several changes are being implemented, even though you, as members, may not know. I believe in thinking outside the box on issues, and look to solutions that will not only solve the issue, but if there are opportunities for improvement through these issues, seek these out too. I intend to serve all members to the best of my abilities and hope that during my term we will see this Association prosper to be in a much better situation than it is currently financially and once again be an Association which members want to be a part of and are proud to be associated with.

During the coming year, I will also be your 2011 National Show Manager. I have already reviewed the program from the 2010 Nationals and have introduced many new classes for Paint Breds, Amateur Owners, Youth, more cattle based events and introduced show jumping. The 2011 National Show will be much bigger than ever before experienced. I will be sharing this program with you in the near future for member comments. This is one way members can be actively involved in our events and have ownership of their show too. There has been a small hiccup with respect to the dates of the 2011 National Show which were previously published in the Journal. These dates were not confirmed by contract as we were led to believe. We are currently in negotiations with AELEC, and as soon as firm date is set this will be published on the website. In addition to this, I and the other Board members are already reviewing the current office situation, following up new sponsorship deals and looking at improving the Journal and setting up a program to update the website on a regular basis.

I am acutely aware that there are issues remaining with the members. These include accessing the office when you need to, show points, registrations and general paperwork turn around time. I intend to address these issues and seek to improve communication links between members and the staff and Board of Directors. I can speak for all Board members in that we are all very approachable and will endeavour to represent you all. If you have an issue, please contact us and we will investigate it.

We all have a very big year ahead of us. The Board wishes every member the best of luck in your showing over the coming months. To those patiently awaiting the birth of your foal or foals, I wish you luck. I too am with you in that respect. To those of you who just want to enjoy your Paint Horses, enjoy every minute with these unique horses. They are the best horses in the world.

If you wish to contact me at all, please utilise my email address or phone after dark. I like most of you, have another paying job. I will however get back to each person as soon as I can. If I can't answer your issue, I will find someone who can.

All the best
Pam Simpson

Editor's letter

Welcome to the first of Stallion Issues.

Thank you to all those who have supported me in the last few issues. It has made this huge issue possible. With new leaders at the helm may we all move on-wards and upwards. What a busy three months we have had on the show scene. Paint National Show, NPHA, South Australian State Show. Paint Horses have certainly been out there strutting their stuff. Bin Lootin showed the other breeds how it was done winning the NSW QHA State Feature 3year old Western Pleasure. Congratulations to all concerned. The deadline for the next issue is the 1st August so please get your booking in as soon as you can. Breeding season is just around the corner, may I wish you all the best of luck with the foaling out and breeding of your mares and stallions.

Until next time
Take care

Vice President Report

As this is my first report as Vice President, I would like to take the time to thank all the members who supported and encouraged me to stand as a director. I had no aspirations to become a Director, but as many members of the Association who had known me for a long time asked me to stand for the position of Director, and even offered to nominate me, I agreed to do so. The fact is that although I may have ended up on the Board unopposed, I was still supported by many of the members. My pledge to all members is to follow the path of honesty, loyalty, and transparency in all matters. I see myself as a voice for the members of the PHAA. I believe that we are all the same, and we all want the best for our horses, we all want to own/or show our Paint Horses with pride, and enjoy the pleasure of a life that many folk can only dream about.

We are the luckiest people in this world and should be doing our own, individual part, to make owning a Paint horse a more pleasurable pastime, not only for ourselves, but for all to see. I would like to see a return to fun and laughter at shows, and people helping each other rather than silence, and little groups of people, bunched together, complaining about one thing or another. I don't care if I win, place or make a fool of myself, as long as I have fun, I will continue to show horses. I also would like this opportunity to ask all members to be patient with the office staff, they have a huge job ahead of them. Staffing issues have been addressed, but like all things, they take time to implement.

I would like to invite any member who has ideas for the future, concerns, or would like anything raised at Board level, to please make contact with me and I would be only too glad to help out where possible. Remember I am here to represent you, the members.

Regards Chris Stapleton

Company Secretary Report

Angela Newton

I hope that everyone that travelled to or competed at the National Show enjoyed themselves. What a huge event it was. My congratulations and thank you to the National Show team for a successful show. I personally would like to thank the supporters and workers involved in the Cutting feature. In particular: Elders Tamworth for sponsorship of the cattle, Joe and Kerri-Ann Attard for running a fundraiser for the cartage,

David Banks and Little Smarty Oak for the prize money and Tony Ernst for donating his time and know-ledge to the youth clinic. Other notable supporters that I must mention are Dawn O'Reilly, Bo Saunders, Chris Bauman, Mark and Tracey Watt, Sonya Kinkade, Carol Rushby and Matt Simpson. Now down to business, the show may be over but the cleanup has just begun!!! This part of the year is extremely busy with National Shows and AGMs to wrap up and Membership renewals being due – but at this point of time the Office remains severely short staffed. Plans are under way to fill the holes and get services back on track. One thing I would like to point out to members is where your money goes. Membership and Registration fees pay to maintain the Studbook. The “Studbook” consists of the database which records your horse’s pedigree and the staff and resources to transfer ownerships and print your certificates. Additionally, a major percentage of your actual membership fee also pays for your journal. Outside of the “Studbook” all other services should be self funding. These include the Youth and Amateur programs, National Show, Futurities, Points recording, End of Year Awards, all other lifetime and perpetual awards. Of particular note the Points Recording service is our dearest expense requiring a dedicated full time staff member. It is expected that when the cleanup of this years National Show is completed it will be the first time ever that we will be in a position to have a self funding show. That is – in all previous years the start up costs for the National Show have come from the general account. Hopefully now it can stand on its own. The 2010 AGM has also been run and I would like to thank the departing Board members for their contributions and welcome the new Board members. The trek to Tamworth and the staff shortage made the usual preparations for the AGM a challenge, along with what seemed a record number of motions. I am really pleased to see the membership being involved in their Association. Unfortunately it created a lot of work for me so if I don’t respond to a request give me a reminder as I may just be snowed under.

Warm Regards
Angela Newton

Amateur Report

To begin with allow me to introduce myself. My name is Toni Scown and I am a proud Queenslander, though originally, I admit, I am from Victoria. I am new to the Board of Directors and also to the Amateur Owner Portfolio. With the help of Megan Savill and Alison Lord who have agreed to be part of the portfolio committee we hope to make this a great year for Amateur Owners.

Toni Scown

The 2010 National Show was held in Tamworth for the first time and I would like to congratulate everyone who took part, especially those who didn't win but won by just being there and competing in a truly sportsmanlike fashion. This National Show saw two firsts for the Amateur Owners, congratulations go to the Amateur Owner Versatility which was won by Suzie Bone and the Amateur Owner Paint Bred High Point won by Jill Wagner and the High Point Amateur Owner won by Kristy Trigg. I trust everyone arrived home safely and are now looking for bigger and better things for next year.

There was no major raffle held during the 2009/2010 year. However a raffle was run for a halter generously donated by three Gems Tack and was won by Grahme Savill of Dalby. With some concerted efforts of a few Amateur Owners selling tickets we were able to raise $1235.90.

With limited time available, we did manage to hold a brief Amateur Owner meeting at the Nationals and it was decided to go through a fundraising specialist to get our fundraising off the ground for 2010/2011. For the first time we will step away from the traditional horse orientated prize for the first prize and offer a holiday. This will appeal to a much wider market and make tickets easier to sell and thus raise more funds. The raffle will also be a multi draw and we are currently sourcing other prizes. Another fundraising idea is to run a Trainer Service Auction as opposed to a Stallion Service Sale. This should prove to be a major fund raising venture and I will advise you either on the website or via the Journal as this develops.

Further to this Megan has put together a sponsorship package and we are now working on sourcing sponsorships not only for the Amateur Owner National Show awards but also to fund other areas of benefit to more Amateur Owners. I will keep you up to date as things develop in this area.

From time to time in the past snap shots of well known Amateur Owners have been run in the Journal. This is a practice I would like to continue, however I would like to add more snapshots of Amateurs who are competing in the non-traditional areas. These Amateurs often have to compete in a more diverse and more difficult arena to gain recognition, and for their very efforts in competing in less recognised areas I would like to feature them in our Journal to once again prove that Paints are versatile and can compete in open competition. So please, if you know of someone who merits recognition in the Journal or even if you want to tell us about yourself, contact me and we can take it from there.

Finally all the best for the rest of the show season, where ever you are, and with your help let's make this a top year for Amateur Owners.

WORLD YOUTH GAMES 2010

Well the National Show has been and gone and now we are heading towards the Youth Team embarking on their journey to the World Games in Fort Worth Texas.

Lee Wear

Entries have been lodged so the Team is almost there. The Team are hoping to be able to update their Facebook page throughout the trip so please join it to keep up to date with what they are up to. The page is called "PHAA 2010 World Youth Team" so add it now and join us for our trip. The Team had a great time at the National show, Lauren Louw won high-point Senior Youth and the rest of the Team shared in a variety of wins and places. The Team would like to thank the sponsors and members that supported our Youth Auction; we raised over $4000.00 so it was a great night.

The Team had a great time helping and sharing in all the Youth events, it's a great time to make new friends and catch up with old ones. There are some really great Youth coming through the ranks and it won't be long before everyone is focused on getting onto the next World Show Team. Good luck to everyone with all your upcoming events and remember above all have fun!

Enjoy your Paints and we will be doing our best to flag the Aussie flag proudly in the States.

Youth Report

Sonya Kinkade

For those that don't know me, my name is Sonya Kinkade and I am a new Director and have taken on the job of Youth Portfolio Holder for the next year. So that you know a bit more about me I thought I would start by telling you a little about my background with Paint Horses.

I have been involved with Paints for around 15 years now and most of the show members on the east coast would know me or have seen me over these years. I fell in love with Paints and the western breeds as a child so I just had to have one when I finally decided to get out and have a go at showing at the age of 27. My first paint horse Kaleidoscope is the name behind my stud. He was injured before I got to show him but he is now my nanna (at 26 yrs old) for my babies here at the stud. My well known geldings Bar N Bailey and Karalinga Koloma got me out and about. They headed me down the road to start showing at State and National Level. My current show team of Sioux City Bandit and Karalinga Dunupinplatinum have also done me proud. Sioux has been used by one of our previous USA Youth Team members to learn reining (for her Youth event in USA) on with a local trainer so she could kick some "serious butt" in the USA which she did. I have had Youth riders on my horses for the past few years and love to see these kids grow, become adults and continue to enjoy showing with their own horses in their Amateur years. As a new director and the PHAA Youth Co-ordinator, I am hoping to continue my passion with the breed and also with the kids. It is just so satisfying to see such a great group of kids get out there and have fun and enjoy their showing days and to see the great love for their horses that they have.

Another National Show is over and what a show it was. The facilities were fantastic and the atmosphere was great. The Youth at the show were fantastic this year. Happy kids with great attitudes. Good to see the numbers up in the Youth Classes as well. Great to see these guys had put in the hard work to get them out there and having a go. Congratulations to our High Point Youth riders. High Point Junior Youth was Brianna Gibson and Runner up Maddison Lane. High Point Senior Youth went to Lauren Louw and Runner up was Jaydene Urosevic. Well Done!

Thank you to the youth who helped at the Pancake evening on the Saturday night. This was a good team effort considering it was organised at the last minute. I would like to thank our chief Pancake makers Lauren Louw, Stacey Bentley and Amanda Carter. Will Hupp was our busy delivery driver riding his pushbike and delivering pancakes to those in aisles still prepping horses. Also a big thanks to the rest of our helpers who came along, took money and squirted maple syrup, lemon and sugar. We have plans in the pipeline for something a little different for our night next year. The Youth Goods and Services auction was a blast as well. Congratulations on the money these guys have raised.

On Sunday morning you may have seen the Easter Bunny planting Easter Eggs for the egg hunt for the kids. A big thanks to Lauren Louw for wearing her bunny suit and making the morning so much fun for the kids at the show. Another thank you must go to Helen Bentley (Stacey's mother) who very kindly donated the eggs for the hunt. It is so nice to see Helen and other parents join in to help all the youth not just their own children.

The Youth trip is just around the corner so from all of us on the Board we wish all Team members all the best for their trip, to have a fantastic and fun time and a very safe trip. Show them what us Aussies are made of.

Good luck to everyone for the rest of the show season and also the breeding season which is just around the corner.

Youth President Report

Well I'm pretty excited to be Youth President this year. I have a few good ideas I would like to get going, which can only happen with your support.

Just five weeks now, as I am writing this, until the Paint Youth Team heads over to Texas, USA. I'm sure we are all very excited, I know I am, haha. I think that the trip is such a good experience for any youth that owns a Paint. Everyone should try and give it a go. It is so much fun, and it really is an unforgettable feeling to represent your COUNTRY. Don't ever feel discouraged in aiming for this amazing opportunity. Although keep in mind the only place where success comes before work is in the dictionary. Many things can be learnt from this trip, it really opens your eyes to the quality of horses outside of Australia. So remember, the hard work sure does pay off.

An exciting thing I am planning for the QLD State Show is a Christmas in July themed Secret Santa. On the Wednesday evening before the beginning of the state show there is a youth meeting organised where all youth will draw a name of another youth and their stable number out of a hat. The Youth may then buy that person a small Christmas present under approximately $10, or perhaps a voucher for labour (e.g. mucking out a stable) haha. During the state show, the youth will secretly post to the stable door two unobvious clues (one about themselves, one about their horse) to help each youth guess who their secret santa is. The revealing of who each person's secret santa is, and the swap over of gifts will happen on pancake night (friday night). Hopefully this will turn out to be a fun event, giving Youth something to do while we aren't competing, and encouraging us to get to know one another.

A thing for the future I would like to get running is the youth webpage. I believe Courtney Whittaker is taking charge of this department, so we will be getting in contact to create the perfect youth page with the help and support from you guys. Also a new thing I would like to introduce, most likely at Nationals next year, is Youth Judging. I have been contacting the APHA Youth Director and talking to her about getting this started. She has had lots of previous experience and is able to lead us on the right track to set it up successfully.

Our Youth Judging will be very casual to encourage all Youth to have a go, it will give you a taste of the judges position; what it feels like to judge a class, and what to be looking for. I will keep you posted as to how this goes.

These are just a few of the ideas I would like get started as Youth President which will all benefit the Paint horse Youth of Australia. If you guys are feeling just as motivated as I, feel free to contact me to talk about any new and/or current ideas, or if you just wish to keep in contact, email me on kunda@iprimus.com.au

See you all at the next show :)

2011 PHAA NATIONAL FUTURITY REPORT

Report by Sally McPhee Photo: Tania Hobbs

2011 already? Yes, we know the 2010 National Show and Futurities are only just done, but planning for 2011 is already well under way. After all, nominations for the 2011 Futurities are due soon. This is the last journal before 1st August, so we need to let you all know what is happening.

There are some important changes that have been put in place for 2011:

- The 2011 futurities will be run by volunteers external to the PHAA office in order to minimise management costs and maximise prize money. Also GST is no longer included in Futurity payments or payouts.
- All futurities must be self funding. This means that by the third payments, events with less than three paid up entries MAY BE CANCELLED. If events are not supported they will be cancelled and monies refunded. So don't always expect to buy-in late as the event may not even be on if there are not enough entries on the way through. We must ensure we have at least enough money to buy the prizes.
- Late payment penalty fees have been revised. Also late entry will be permitted after the final payment due date, but with significant penalty fees.

Prizes: In addition to prize money, we are planning to have buckles for all futurities – modelled on the World Show ones! And we are planning some little surprises for the placegetters as well.

Sponsorship: Sponsorship of individual 2011 futurity events, is invited. Events that are sponsored will not be cancelled unless there are no entries. Contact the Futurity Organiser if you want to sponsor an event.

Important dates:

- 15th June: Nomination forms will be available to download from the PHAA website. They can be mailed on request.
- 1st August: Nominations for all futurities are due before 1st August – and a reminder there is NO LATE NOMINATION for weanlings. To avoid disappointment, it is a good idea for stallion owners to let new paint breeders know about this.
- The final payment date will be the same as the show closing date.

At the time of writing this report, the dates for the 2011 show have not been finalised but everyone needs to know that it will NOT BE AT EASTER. The AQHA National Show has now moved to a permanent date in late April and in 2011 Easter will fall during Q11 (Easter Sunday is 24th April). It is hoped that arrangements for the 2011 PHAA National Show will be announced soon.

2011 Events:

REGULAR REGISTERED HORSES

- A - Weanling Halter
- B - Yearling Halter
- C - 2 Year Old & Over Halter
- D - Yearling Lungeline
- E - 1 Year Old & Over Hunter In Hand
- F - 2 Year Old Western Pleasure
- G - 2 Year Old Hunter Under Saddle
- H - 2 Year Old Trail
- I - 3 Year Old Western Pleasure
- J - 3 Year Old Hunter Under Saddle
- K - 3 Year Old Trail
- L - 4 Year Old & Over Western Pleasure
- M - 4 Year Old & Over Hunter Under Saddle
- N - 4 Year Old & Over Trail
- O - 3 - 5 Year Old Reining

PAINT BRED ONLY

- P - Paint Bred Weanling Halter
- Q - Paint Bred Yearling Halter
- R - Paint Bred 2 Year Old & Over Halter
- S - Paint Bred Yearling Lungeline
- T - Paint Bred 2 & Over Western Pleasure
- U - Paint Bred 2 & Over Hunter Under Saddle

There has been one change to the 2011 line up of events. A Paint Bred Lungeline futurity has been added to complement the coloured event. But remember ... if individual events are not supported, they will be cancelled. Entries and payments will be published on the website after each payment date so everyone will have plenty of warning if an event is at risk of being cancelled.

TWIN OAKS SMOAK

“My Old Friend”

Sire – Docs Smokin Oak

Dam – San Antonio Pep

Foaled Nov 27, 1995

Reg. # 4037

On March 24, 2010 Twin Oaks Smoak died suddenly in his paddock. Smoak was Sheridan Stevens Youth Horse throughout her showing career. Together they racked up an impressive list of National and State Championships including a place on the Youth Team to America. He also had his PHAA Youth Champion Horse and PHAA Champion Awards as well as numerous ROMS. Smoak has been a fantastic horse, a true champion and part of our family. He is one of the early progeny of our Twin Oaks Paint Horse Stud. In recent years he had been enjoying life as a turnback horse in the cutting pen and mustering horse on our cattle property near Rockhampton in QLD. He was always just there, ready to go and could be trusted to do a great job for any member of the family. He was as honest as the day is long.

Smoak is very much missed but will always be fondly remembered by the Stevens Family and fellow PHAA members. There will never be a greater friend!!

imp. USA

CC Loots Image, was born in Illinois, USA on January 9th 1993, Loot was bred by Carroll and Elizabeth Newingham of C & C Paints, home of "Gran Loot". CC Loots Image was so named as he was the image of his famous sire.

Gran Loot earned his APHA Champion status in 1985, one of the youngest stallions ever to earn an APHA Champion Award. Gran Loot earned 191 lifetime performance points, 51 lifetime halter points, APHA Superior Halter and Western Pleasure Award and a ROM at Reining. Loots Image AmQHA dam is the "Robert Redford" granddaughter "My Belle KC". CC Loots Image earned his APHA Champion Award in May of 1996, at the ripe old age of three, he had earned 66 halter points and 135 performance points. Before arriving in Australia Loot had been awarded:

- APHA Superior Halter Horse
- APHA Superior Western Pleasure
- ROM Trail
- Missouri Breeders 2yr old Futurity
- Illinois Breeders 2yr old Futurity
- Nebraska 2yr old Futurity
- Circuit Champion Midwest Regionals-
Nebraska & Wisconsin Paint O Rama
- Winner of more than $8,000 in prize money
- Points in Reining & Western Riding.

Purchased and imported to Australia in November 1996 by the Loots Image Syndicate the only thing that changed was dropping the CC prefix from his name. Loot continued on his winning way in Australia as he did in the America. He won at halter and under saddle at National, State and Royal Show level. He was shown with great success by well known trainers, Wayne Judge, Raelene Higgins and Glen Wyse.

Loot was also shown in Amateur classes by Wayne and Narrelle Burge. It wasn't long before he earned his PHAA Champion Award making him the first Paint Horse in the world to hold both these prestigious awards.

Now retired from the show ring Loot is once again living up to his sires' name as 'the sire' with his progenies wins and achievements both in Australia and the USA. In the US Loot has sired Halter, Western Pleasure, Lungeline and Youth Champions. His Australian progeny have won The Australian Halter Showcase Weanling Futurity and 2yr old WP Showcase, NPHA, Weanling, Yearling and Open Halter Futurities, Western Pleasure, Hunter under Saddle and Reining Futurities, as well as PHAA National and State Show Champions at Halter, Led Trail, Western Pleasure, Hunter Under Saddle, Reining, Trail, Working Cowhorse, Hunter in Hand, Western Horsemanship and High Point Awards. His kids are owned, enjoyed and shown by youths, amateurs and professionals ... and they stay sound of body and sound of mind ...

In 2004 the Paint Horse Association of Australia first introduced their "Top ten Leading Sires List" and there he was:

- #1 Overall Leading Sire
- #1 Leading Performance Sire
- #2 Leading Halter Sire
- In 2005
- #1 Leading Performance Sire
- #2 Leading Halter Sire
- #2 Overall Leading Sire
- In 2006
- #1 Overall Leading Sire
- #1 Leading Performance Sire
- #2 Leading Halter Sire
- In 2007
- Loot "scooped the pool" or taking out 'the trifecta' ...
- #1 Overall Leading Sire
- #1 Leading Halter Sire
- #1 Leading Performance Sire!

In 2008 the horse industry in Australia came to an abrupt standstill due to the outbreak of Equine Influenza, therefore there was no PHAA High Point Awards for that year.

- In 2009 Loot is still the one!
- #1 Overall Leading Sire
- #1 Leading Halter Sire
- #1 Leading Performance Sire!

they are accumulated by a number of progeny competing across all events at all levels of competition, all over Australia. It is no wonder he is the leading sire, his 'kids' have excelled in numerous events with twelve of his progeny (to date) earning their PHAA Champion Award: Dee Bar Blue the Loot, Absolutlyazippo, Absolutimage Loocille, Instant Loot, Tunza Loot, Lootscootin KC, Double the Money, Killflood, Little Loot, Instant Loot, and C.L. Main Event (PHAA Champion Youth Horse)

Loots progeny have proved that they can hold their own with some of the best Quarter Horses in the country. Results speak louder than words ... His kids have 'shone' in the show arena winning some very impressive titles at the major shows, proving he passes his exceptional temperament on to his progeny.

COUNTHEKASH

Numerous wins at the prestigious NPHA since a two year old and recently High Point Youth of the 2010 NPHA William Hupp. Multiple National Champion Awards since a weanling at halter, now a four year old he is still winning with a Jnr. # Fireweed

– PLANT DETAILS –

Botanical name:

Senecio madagascariensis

Common name: Fireweed

Description:

Fireweed is an annual herb (that is a small plant) which originates from Natal in South Africa. It was first reported in the Hunter Valley of New South Wales in 1918.

This weed has an erect habit growing up to 50cm (20") tall, but may be smaller in dry or harsh conditions (10-20cm or 4-8" tall). The plant has mid-green leaves on branched stems but its main characteristic is the mass of small yellow daisy flowers which are seen mainly from winter to spring. The flowers are a golden yellow and have 13 petals surrounding the yellow centre. Seeds form quickly on the plant.

How does it spread?

Each fireweed plant may produce as many as 30,000 seeds as a single yellow flower can produce between 100-150 seeds and there can be as many as 200 flowers per plant. The seeds are white and feathery and are often dispersed by wind but can also be spread by the movement of animals and birds. Fireweed can also be spread via mulch and feed.

– POISONOUS WEED –

Who is at risk?

Horses, donkeys and cattle face the greatest risk of poisoning from this plant. Poultry can also be affected after eating fireweed. Sheep that eat fireweed may experience a higher copper intake resulting in liver damage. No significant damage to sheep may be noticed until the animals have been exposed to the weed for two or more seasons. Goats can also be affected but, as with sheep, may require at least two seasons of exposure before symptoms are noticed.

Symptoms of poisoning:

It is compounds called alkaloids which make fireweed toxic to many herbivores (plant eaters). The major effect of fireweed is that it causes severe liver damage but other problems include:

- some gradual weight loss
- jaundice
- fluid on the lungs
- blindness may occur
- may cause severe liver damage
- sudden death without any other indications

Neurological symptoms

may also be apparent as an early indication of poisoning. These include:

- twitching of the head muscles
- incoordination of movement
- irritability

Horses will vary in their susceptibility to the alkaloids and it may take from several weeks to several seasons of exposure to this plant before the animals show any signs of illness. Be aware, though, that some horses may also have a more acute reaction to it.

Treatment:

It is important to call your vet immediately if you suspect that your horse has eaten fireweed and to remove the animal from the infested paddock.

– DISTRIBUTION –

Fireweed is common along coastal New South Wales into southern Queensland. It is usually found in heavily grazed pastureland and may spread into bushland after fires. It is also found along road verges. It has been found throughout south-east Queensland in shires around Brisbane and as far north as Noosa (it is spreading along the Bruce Highway and the Sunshine Motorway) and as far west as the Great Dividing Range. As well as being found along the New South Wales coast to Bega it is also found in parts of the Northern Tablelands and Western Slopes of New South Wales. Plants have been recorded around Mudgee and Dubbo in the Central West. It is beginning to be noticed in Victoria around Gippsland.

– WEED MANAGEMENT –

There is no one way of eliminating fireweed but a combination of physical and chemical controls will reduce infestations in large areas such as paddocks and pastures. In a home garden situation plants can be hand-weeded or mown.

Whichever control methods are selected it is vital that they occur before flowering to reduce seed production. Seeds can form even after treatment with herbicide or weeding if the plant is already in flower so dispose of hand pulled weeds in the garbage.

Recommended controls:

Regular slashing is an important method of controlling this weed (particularly before flowering and seeding occurs). Regular spraying of pastureland with selected herbicides may help control fireweed. Chemicals recommended by the Queensland Department of Primary Industries and NSW Agriculture include Bromoxynil (sold as Bromocide 200, Brominil 200 and Buctril 200). The herbicide should be applied on young plants before flowering. More chemical is required on flowering or mature plants and control is less effective. For more details on herbicide control, rates and products consult the Queensland Department of Natural Resources or NSW Agriculture (details see right).

Photos: Tania Hobbs

CSIRO is currently working on a biological control method for fireweed. Some pests and a fungus already attack the weed but will not control it. Improving pastures to increase competition against the weed is also important for on-going control.

Other yellow-flowered weeds

There are many yellow-flowered pasture weeds including capeweed (Arctotheca calendula), stinking Roger (Tagetes minuta) and gorse (Ulex europaeus) as well as other species of senecio such as groundsel (Senecio vulgaris and S. lautus, which is a native plant) but it is fireweed that is considered dangerous to animals and should be carefully noted.

DAVID RODNEY FARQUHAR

14/8/1932 – 4/12/2009

On 4th December 2009, the Paint Horse world lost a founding member of the PHAA and the first Life Member with the sudden passing of David Farquhar.

His daughter tells us that David had a lifelong love of all animals, but in the horse world it was about all things palomino. As a young man David bought a place at Gisborne which he named "The Golden Horse Ranch". This is where he raised his palominos, always featuring on the front page of the ridden in the parade by the LeGarde Twins Tom and Ted, Lorne Green and Ben Cartwright of Bonanza Fame. In this particular parade David drove his Cadillac convertible with Big Chief Little Wolf in his full head dress of feathers sitting up beside him.

By the late 1960's David had moved his family, horses and trailer business to Murrurundi to a property he named Crescent

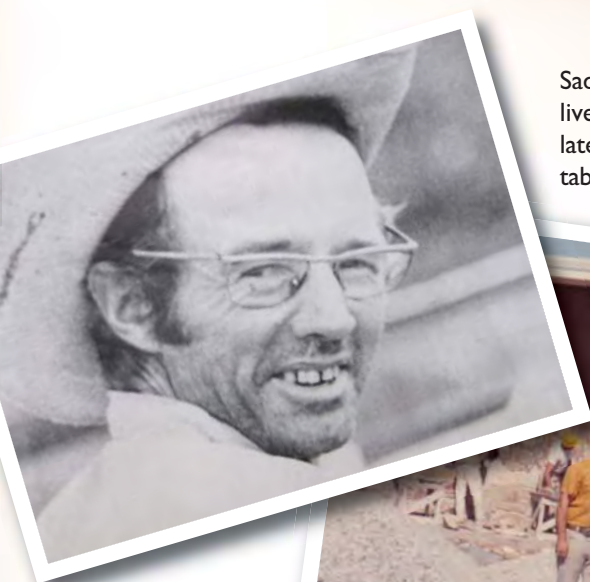

Melbourne papers just before the Royal Melbourne Show. He started importing horses for clients and to sell but meanwhile he was looking out for his own Quarter Horse Palomino from the USA "Laddie Boots". David bred and showed palominos with great success. In the fifties he supplied palomino horses for the Moomba Festival Rodeo at Melbourne showgrounds; some were

F Ranch and it was here that he bred Quarter Horses, Welsh Mountain Ponies, Shetlands and Appaloosas.

In 1974, to David purchased from Ralph Russell in McKinney, Texas and imported the palomino overo stallion Bueno Bandit. Bueno Bandit was a well credentialed stallion in the USA competing successfully in halter, western pleasure, trail, reining and cutting. And so an additional breed of horses was added to the herd at Crescent F Ranch and the prefix CFR is still well known the world of the PHAA.

David lived a full and interesting life, and from all his daughter Cody has told us, he was not only a collector and breeder of horses but also of cars and trucks with a count at one point of 67 vehicles. He had a great love of

WHEN COLOSTRUM KILLS

HAEMOLYTIC DISEASE IN NEWBORN FOALS

Dr J H Stewart BVSc BSc PhD MRCVS Dip BEP AAIM Equine Veterinarian and Consultant Nutritionist

Blood-typing of mares and stallions to confirm parentage offers owners an early warning system for detection of foals at risk from potentially fatal jaundice. Jaundice or haemolytic disease occurs naturally only in humans and horses and is due to the mare and stallion having different blood groups.

It is commonly associated with the blood types Aa-negative and Qa-negative. Most stallions are Qa-positive and if the mare is Qa-negative or Aa-negative, she produces antibodies to the Qa-positive red cells. The antibodies attach to the foal's red blood cells. The antibodies flag the red cells for destruction and removal from the circulation.

In the horse, antibodies cannot cross the placenta. The foal is safe from the antibodies until it is born. Human babies, on the other hand become affected before they are born, because in people, antibodies cross the placenta and pass into the baby, causing destruction of the red cells.

Ordinarily, it is critical for foals to receive colostrum, to load up with antibodies to protect them for three to four months until they are old enough to produce their own. However, if the mare is a different blood group to the foal, the colostrum becomes a lethal cocktail. Anti-red cell antibodies concentrate in the colostrum and when the foal begins to nurse, the antibodies enter the foal's circulation and attach to the red blood cells. Then begins is a continuing process of red blood cell destruction causing profound anaemia, jaundice, weakness and death.

Diseases and conditions that affect newborn foals are grouped into various categories, but the clinical signs are often the same and anything outside 'normal' is a cause for closer observation and prompt veterinary advice. Newborn foals should be closely observed for the first few days and any subtle changes in behaviour must be investigated promptly. Some foals may be 'normal' at birth but close observation will reveal slight changes which are not specific for any particular disease or infection, but that indicate a need for veterinary examination. A characteristic of most diseases is sleepiness and lethargy. All foals sleep most of the time, so it is important to note any foals that seem unusually sleepy.

Some foals fall asleep while standing and may fall down if they go into a deep sleep. The complicated manoeuvring of legs required to lie down is usually achieved after the first feed and within three hours of birth foals usually sleep for seven to ten minutes, before standing and nursing again. Bouncy little play movements begin around two hours and most have organised their legs sufficiently to be able canter and gallop by six hours of age. By the end of the first day the normal foal will be nibbling grass, galloping and grooming itself; licking and chewing fences, tails, trees, buckets and bins and passing urine and manure. Between 1.5 and two minutes is spent suckling, which takes place up to 24 times a day. Normal sleep periods range from 15 to 30 minutes and occur 20 to 25 times a day. If the foal appears drowsy, excessively sleepy or is not feeding vigorously then a veterinary clinical assessment is indicated.

Any foal that goes off suck, lies around more than would be expected, becomes sleepy, has signs of colic or yellowing of the gums, must be treated urgently. Even the strongest foal will quickly deteriorate if it's red blood cells are being destroyed. Foals are normal at birth and show normal behaviour until the destruction of red blood cells causes anaemia as soon as six hours after suckling. Affected foals then become lethargic and may yawn a lot. If they are exerted or excited, their respiratory rates and heart rates increase markedly and a pulse may be seen travelling in waves up the neck. The eyes and gums may be jaundiced and the urine discoloured red. Signs may appear on the first, but usually on the second day after birth. However, each case is different and if severe the foal may be found collapsed. Whether a foal is a risk can be determined with reasonable accuracy if the blood type of the mare is known.

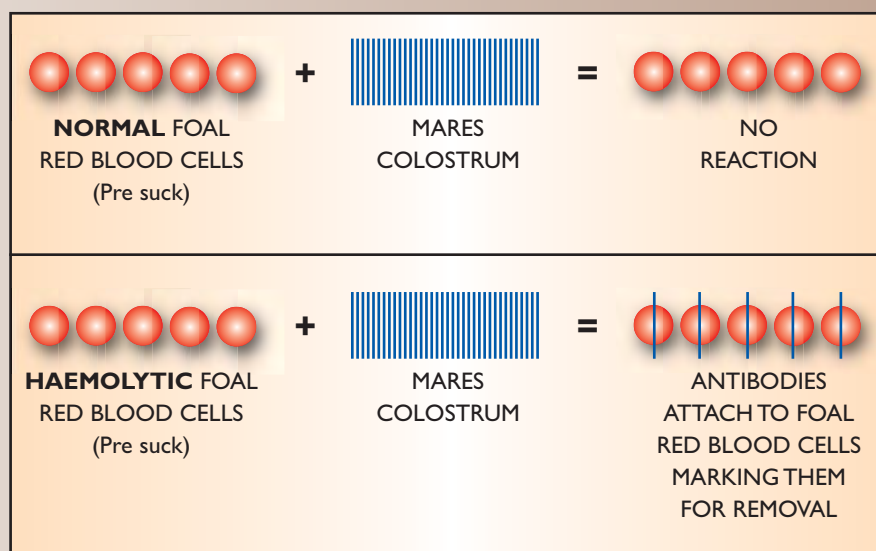

Some studs identify high risk mares on blood type – those that are Aa- or Qa- negative can be monitored during the last two to three weeks of pregnancy. The disease can then be prevented by muzzling the foal for the first 24 to 36 hours after birth so that it cannot ingest colostrum from the mare. Donor colostrum from a non-sensitised mare must be given to provide immunity. The colostrum from the dam is regularly milked for 36 hours and discarded. The ability of antibodies to be absorbed through the lining of the gut is limited to the first 24 to 36 hours after birth and ingestion of antibody after this time cannot cause the condition, so the foal can suckle normally after the danger period.

Prevention is much less taxing than treatment. Effective prevention requires knowledge of the mare's blood type. Dr Kevin Bell at the University of Queensland Australian Equine Blood Typing Research Laboratory, has been working in this area for many years. By determining the blood type of the mare and testing her blood in late gestation, the laboratory can provide concerned owners with the information necessary to prevent the development of the disease in foals at risk. The disease is rare in maiden mares because they have not been exposed previously and have not mounted a strong immune response to other blood types. DNA analysis will not provide information on blood type and it will not be possible to identify high risk mares from the after birth can correct for deficiencies in the last three months of pregnancy.

There is nothing quite as enchanting as the newborn of any species (except perhaps mice and insects), but newborn foals have an abundance of that special quality. It is possible to spend many hours watching them explore their new world and practice using their legs in the correct arrangement to achieve graceful, effortless movement. Although some may judge 'foal-watching' to be a waste of time, this pleasant pastime offers benefits both to the observer and to the foal. The early detection of abnormal behaviour allows rapid intervention and can reduce both the risks and the severity of neonatal diseases. Correct nutritional management of the pregnant mare increases the resilience of the newborn foal and reduces the risks of leg, bone test. However, equine veterinarians will be able to advise on other testing procedures.

Treatment is based on veterinary examination, laboratory tests and supportive measures, such as transfusions. Do not be tempted to administer or provide any form of iron supplements to the foal – both oral and injectable preparations have been linked to death in young foals. The provision of a balanced diet high in minerals to late pregnant mare is the safest and most effective method of ensuring the foal has sufficient body reserves of the trace elements such as iron and copper, minerals and vitamins necessary for red blood cell production. No amount of supplementation of the mare or the foal and joint problems. Specially formulated feeds such as Mitavite Promita and Mitavite Breeda have been balanced to meet the nutritional requirements of the late pregnant mare without the risks of overfeeding. Minerals such as iron and copper are provided as chelated mineral proteinates. This increases absorption by over 300% compared to inorganic forms of minerals, ensuring that the unborn foal can build reserves of essential minerals to support bone development and red cell production in the bone marrow.

Artificial Insemination

Overnight
First Class

TNT

Article by Dr David Bartholomeusz   Photos:Tania Hobbs

The first thing to think about with AI is the logistics of getting the semen from somewhere (stud), in some manner (air/courier/personal pick up), to the inside of the mare's uterus at the right time (vet), so the mare ovulates when the semen is at its most potent, so that the semen and the ovule (egg) meet at the right place, become fertilised, then arrive in the uterus and have a nice environment to land in. That's the long and short of getting a mare pregnant through AI. Dead easy, isn't it?

The second thing to consider with AI is that the semen has a limited life span from the time it's collected. If it's chilled semen you are working on approximately 48 hours of life before its fertility diminishes. If you're working on frozen semen you may only have 12 hours of life before it dies. So you need to be fairly accurate.

The third thing is that getting the semen to the place where the mare is may be an issue. For example, you may order the semen this morning, go to the stud which may be an hour away, have them collect it, have it sitting there for you, go back to your place and have it in the mare in three hours. That's a completely different scenario, in terms of preparation of the mare, to where you have to order the semen tonight, for the semen to be collected tomorrow morning, to be put on the plane from somewhere to arrive here early in the morning on the next morning, and to go into the mare a day and a half later, with a lifespan of possibly only 12 hours to get to the egg and get it fertilized. Obviously the timeline for the ovulation is critical in this case, as the semen can't be held in suspended animation to wait for it. And that's where the work up for that kind of mating tends to be a bit more involved than for a natural mating. The stages of this process are:

1. The mare needs to be evaluated for its reproductive health (clean uterus, vulval or conformational problems, etc), and also to determine the stage of its reproductive cycle, so that a plan can be formulated. At this examination any cysts found in the uterus need to be measured and plotted (description of where they are in the uterus) so that they are not confused with a pregnancy or presumed to be a cyst when they are actually a twin.

2. The transport mechanism and timing of ordering of the semen needs to be clarified so that the mare can be examined and the semen ordered at the appropriate time. That is, when does the semen need to be ordered, how long does it take to get here and how can it arrive as early as possible to allow the maximum chance of pregnancy. Is it possible to have the semen collected or transported on a weekend, etc? Often this is not the case.

3. The mare needs to be examined to determine when to order the semen. It may be necessary to use prostaglandins to manipulate the mare's cycle to try to time the ovulation to fit in with the collection of the semen. It is often also necessary to use drugs such as Ovuplant or Chorulon to control the exact timing of the ovulation – once again to fit in with the semen.

4. Once the semen arrives the mare is scanned to ensure that "everything is going to plan" prior to insemination. The pregnancy rate drops rapidly if the insemination occurs after ovulation.

5. The insemination is carried out using sterile equipment.

6. It is recommended that the mare is re-scanned within two days after service to ensure that the ovulation has occurred. If not it may be necessary to order more semen. The timing of this examination depends on the length of time between collection and insemination, and the type of semen used (chilled/fresh/frozen).

7. Pregnancy testing is usually carried out at 15 days and 45 days post-ovulation (or service). The 15 day test is to ensure pregnancy has occurred and there are no twins, and the 45 days test positive indicates that barring accidents and illness there is a greater than 90% chance of producing a foal at the end of the pregnancy next year. Additional testing at 30 days checks for early embryonic loss allowing an earlier re-insemination if it has been lost.

Unless a vet has monitored a mare's cycle through to ovulation previously, they can only go on averages when predicting a mare's time of ovulation. On "average" a follicle may grow at five mm per day and should ovulate at approximately five cm (it is not unusual for mares to ovulate either large or smaller sized follicles). However these parameters can vary greatly with the speed of growth changing for example when a second or more follicles are growing (may slow first follicle down).

You need to check for ovulation at around the time the semen is going to become unviable. This is usually around 48 hours post collection, because if the mare has not ovulated by then you may need to order more semen. Or you may opt to just forget about that cycle. Ovulation needs to occur about six to eight hours before the semen dies.

The next check that needs to be done is at 15 to 16 days post ovulation. This needs to be done for several reasons:

1. It gives you an early indication if the mare is pregnant. If the mare is not pregnant you can cycle them earlier by the use of the hormone PG (see below for more info.), which would bring them into season earlier than they would naturally.

2. This is the best time to check for twins. Twins are pathological in horses meaning most sets of twins do not make it to birth. The majority of them either abort or are born dead or get stuck during the birthing process. You will get a small proportion of mares that may absorb one twin, leaving the other to twin to go through to full term.

3. The 15 to 16 day scan gives the vet the opportunity to remove one twin manually by squeezing. Also, at that stage embryos haven't implanted so it gives the vet the opportunity to separate them and push them away from each other which allows the vet to squeeze one twin without affecting the other one and hopefully you will have one of those survive. The mare needs to be rechecked two days after this procedure to ensure there is only one viable pregnancy. If both pregnancies are lost she can be short cycled and inseminated again.

4. At approximately day 19 the twin embryos start to get sticky and softer, so the vet generally finds them next to each other. This makes it more difficult to squeeze one without damaging the other, which may result in the loss of both embryos.

5. Mares can ovulate separate follicles up to and over 48 hours apart. It is easier for a vet to find a 13 and 15 day follicle or a 15 and 17 day follicle.

6. Any cysts which were noted and plotted at the pre-mating examination need to be confirmed, measured and re-measured in 48 hours time so they are not confused with a pregnancy. Cysts generally will not grow in 48 hours like a viable embryo would.

Extra notes:

Understanding the use of PG to bring a mare on:

Prostaglandin (PG) which is the injection you give to bring mares on works in conjunction with the reproductive cycle and how this works is that a follicle begins to form in the ovary. A follicle is a little ball of fluid that contains, among other things, an egg. This gradually enlarges and matures until it gets to a certain size. In an average mare that size is approximately five cm across, but it can vary in some individual mares where they will regularly ovulate early at 3.5 cm or sometimes 5.5 or more cm. At times knowing how the mare cycles will help but there is no substitute for scanning the mare and making sure everything is going according to plan i.e.: the follicle is growing at a normal rate.

What happens after the ovulation occurs is that the egg is released to be fertilized in the fallopian tubes, there is bleeding into the space where the original follicle was and over a period of about five to six days that little blood clot turns into a hormone-secreting body, that releases hormones called progesterones and these hormones keep the mare pregnant, or keep the cycle shut down for the next ten or so days until they start to cycle again. That little body that produces the hormones is called the Corpus Luteum. It is on this body that the prostaglandin (PG) works. What it does is to cause that body (CL) to lyse (deteriorate or break up), in other words it stops that body from working anymore by making it go away. Once it goes away progesterone then becomes withdrawn from the mare and then the horses' body decides that as it is not pregnant it should come into season again (known as short cycling).

So that is an involved explanation why there is no point giving PG if a mare hasn't ovulated. If the mare is springing (not going through a full cycle) then PG will often not work. Also if given too early in a mare's cycle (three to four days post ovulation) PG will not work as the Corpus Luteum will not have formed yet.

On the other end of the cycle, as a mare is just about to come into season, giving PG will often have little or no effect, or sometimes it may hasten the ovulation if the mare is very close to ovulation.

HIGH POINT WINNERS

PRETTY SENSATIONAL

I first saw Lacee in 2005, 3 weeks after she was born, and fell in LOVE. Lacee was bred by Robyn Mills of Mills Quarter Horses (formerly of Qld). Her Sire is, Sensation Seeker (x Ima Cool Seeker (IMP/Dec) Her Dam is, Powdered Oak (x Tassy Oak). Unfortunately due to unforeseen circumstances we were unable to purchase her at the time. It wasn't until June 2007, through a strange twist of fate, that she came back into our lives. It was decided that she would be sent to Meredith Rehn for breaking, training and campaigning for her 2-year-old season. Then El struck and we all had 6 months off and the 2007-2008 honour roll was abolished. We still showed and took her to the 2008 Paint Horse championships, where she attained a Reserve Champion 2 yr old trail and top 5 placing's in 2 yr old HUS, WP and Jnr Western Horsemanship. Our other highlight for that year was the QLD Paint Championships, where she won 5 Championships and 1 Reserve, and winning Overall High Point Junior horse of the show. The question has always been 'If only El hadn't struck, what could've been?'

Meredith continued campaigning her in the 2008-2009 season until after the 2009 Nationals and NSW State show, at the 2009 Nationals she won Reserve Champion Jnr Horse WP, Reserve Champion Jnr Horse Hack and Junior Horse Reining, 4th Filly/Mare Hunter in Hand, Reserve Champion 3 yr old WP Futurity and 3 rd's in 3 yr old HUS and Trail Futurities. We then travelled across to Tamworth (AILEC) for the NSW Championships where she won State Champion Jnr Horse Reining and Reserve Champion in Dressage, plus placing's in all her other classes.

Ellie Anderson and I then took over the reins for the rest of the season. Where we continued her success at a few club shows, SEQPHC P.O.R. and competed at the QLD Paint Horse Championships. Where she won State Champion Mare/Filly Hunter in Hand. Reserve Champion 3 yr old HUS and Reserve Champion 2005 Halter Mare. By the end of the season the Honour Roll showed that Lacee not only won the High Point Junior Horse award, but also came 3rd place Overall Performance Horse and as a Bonus came equal 3rd Overall High Point Halter Horse for 2008-2009.

We would like to sincerely thank Meredith Rehn for her skill and tireless efforts in helping us attain the High Point Junior Horse award for 2008-2009. We would also like to thank Ellie Anderson for helping us to complete, what has been a very successful year for Lacee. Also to my darling husband, Steven, for all the Hunter in Hand classes. We hope the 2009-2010 season is just as good, with Lacee competing in the A/O, Senior Youth and a Junior Youth. We have been so blessed to have this little mare in our lives, and really think she lives up to her name "Pretty Sensational".

Impressive Kitty

Impressive Kitty (Coco) is owned by Pam and Stephen Simpson of Spring Valley Stud. Coco has had a very successful show season for 2009 competing in a wide range of disciplines such as dressage, hacking, eventing, showjumping, sporting and we even attempted western! I haven't been in the Paints long, but I got into them after I met both Pam and Stephen. After attending the Nationals, NSW State Show and QLD State Show I managed to come home with many champion and reserve champion titles in the English disciplines. At the NSW State Show I also received High Point Paint bred Youth which was a great! Throughout the year I have received many ROMS. Through the many shows I attended on Coco throughout the year, it got me a spot on the Top 10 youth and I ended up with many Honour Rolls. Coco has been a pleasure to ride and compete. I have had a good, exciting year and I'm look forward for the year to come. I'd like to thank Pam and Stephen Simpson for giving me the opportunity to ride and train such a great horse. This young mare has a big future ahead of her and I'm sure you will be seeing more of us around!

POWERFUL DRUGS...

must be used judiciously to avoid serious side effects in horses

by Kenneth L. Marcella, D.V.M. Photos: Tania Hobbs

Antibiotics are powerful and extremely useful drugs that have been largely influential in increasing both the quality and the length of life in horses.

They are necessary in many conditions to:

- Help foals recover from devastating respiratory infections;
- Help broodmares eliminate uterine problems to remain fertile; and
- Keep athletic horses from developing bone and joint disease following trauma or reparative surgery.

But antibiotics are still drugs. As such, they also can have damaging side effects, and their use is a constant balance between the good accomplished and the potential for serious consequences. One of the most serious side effects seen with the use of antibiotics in horses is the development of colitis, an inflammation of the membranes lining the large bowel of the intestine. Normally, this tissue lining is responsible for the secretion of mucus, enzymes, and digestive factors, as well as the resorption of water and certain electrolytes. Colitis can be acute and develop in a matter of hours, or it can be chronic, taking several days to develop and lasting for months.

Colitis's many causes

Many factors can cause colitis, including bacteria, viruses, and parasitic organisms. Bacterial colitis is perhaps the most common. The horse's intestines are designed to contain a large population of normal bacteria, or flora, that digest grass, hay, and grain. These bacteria are responsible for breaking down what the horse eats into smaller particles – carbohydrates, fatty acids, and proteins – that the horse's body then uses. Toxins are produced as a normal byproduct of bacterial action during digestion. Normally, the horse's liver detoxifies these bacterial byproducts, and the body eliminates them.

Bacterial colitis occurs when abnormal or pathogenic (disease-causing) bacteria grow in the intestine and the toxins produced by them severely damage the intestinal lining. These bacteria can cause the intestinal membrane cells to secrete salts and water, or they could cause the cells to stop working altogether, which disrupts normal function. Pathogenic bacteria can enter the body via contaminated food or water. If intestinal conditions are altered and the normal bacterial population is affected, small numbers of other types of pathogenic bacteria that normally live in the gut also might begin to grow, and colitis results. The bacteria most commonly associated with colitis in the horse are Salmonella, Campylobacter, Clostridium difficile, and Neorickettsia risticii, the causative agent for Potomac Horse Fever.

Viruses also can cause colitis in horses and in other species. Rotavirus commonly affects young foals, and parvovirus is a leading cause of colitis in dogs. Viruses commonly destroy the cells lining the intestine, which halts the absorption of intestinal fluid and produces the severe diarrhea often seen with these diseases. Parasites can cause colitis as protozoan and other organisms physically damage the gut lining and again affect fluid resorption. Exposure to radiation at sufficiently high dosages also will damage the delicate cells that line the intestine; colitis is a major complication of radiation poisoning.

Antibiotics and colitis

The type of colitis that is perhaps the most frustrating to horse owners and equine veterinarians is antibiotic-associated colitis. This occurs when the same drugs (antibiotics) used to help cure a sick horse cause a serious and sometimes fatal colitis. In these cases, it is believed that antibiotics kill off normal gut flora and allow pathogenic bacteria to overgrow. Excessive toxins produced by these bacteria then cause the damage that is seen clinically as colitis.

Horses with colitis show signs of abdominal pain or colic. Usually, these horses will have diarrhea, though some horses with even severe colitis might not show this condition until well into the disease process. Occasionally, in cases of severe, acute colitis that are fatal, the disease might kill too quickly for diarrhea to occur.

Affected horses could have rectal bleeding and painful straining, and they may develop a high fever (often 103 or higher), go off their feed, and be depressed.

Antibiotics most often associated with colitis include many that are commonly used in horses:

- Penicillin, amoxicillin, ticarcillin, and cephalosporins (Ceftiofur, Naxcel) are members of a class of antibiotics called beta-lactams. Use of these drugs has been reported to cause antibiotic-associated colitis, and package inserts for many of these products lists diarrhea as a common, adverse drug reaction and colitis as an infrequent consequence.
- Macrolide antibiotics include erythromycin and tylosin. These drugs, along with such others as oxytetracycline, have been linked to colitis.

Jonathan Foreman, D.V.M., professor of veterinary clinical medicine and a board-certified internal medicine clinician at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, is well aware of the apparent irony of this situation. "Antibiotics often associated with the development of colitis in horses are tetracycline and macrolides," said Foreman, "yet we use erythromycin [a macrolide] to treat rhodococcal diarrhea, and oxytetracycline is the drug of choice for treating Potomac Horse Fever, which is well known to cause severe diarrhea."

Foreman continued, "Oxytetracycline is used daily on the track as an antibiotic because it is broad-spectrum [has effectiveness against a wide variety of bacteria], is given in the vein [which allows for quicker activity], and is inexpensive. There seems to be little concern for its potential diarrheagenic [ability to cause diarrhea] effect."

Noah Cohen, V.M.D., Ph.D., a clinician and researcher at Texas A&M University, advised that the use of oxytetracycline and its link to colitis be put into historical perspective. At one point in time, explained Cohen, oxytetracycline was perhaps the most commonly used equine antibiotic, and the higher number of cases of associated colitis might well have been just a statistical reflection of that use. Cohen said that from an epidemiological standpoint, there is no good evidence that oxytetracycline is any more likely to cause colitis than any other antibiotic.

Stress, drugs, and colitis

In fact, some researchers question the entire idea of antibiotic-associated colitis because stress factors are commonly noted in cases that develop colitis. Changes in diet, environment, exercise routines, and transport are the most frequently listed factors. Foreman and others question if antibiotics are the initiators of the colitis seen in these cases or if stress factors could be the cause.

"Diarrhea is often attributed to the use of an antibiotic," Foreman said, "but in many cases, the horse was depressed and running a fever and then was given antibiotics. Finally, this horse developed diarrhea or colitis. But was the antibiotic the cause of the diarrhea or was the problem already beginning before the antibiotic was even given?" Research studies are not entirely clear on this point. A recent investigation found that C. difficile was recovered from manure in 40% of horses treated with beta-lactam antibiotics for conditions other than colic, but it was not found in 22 horses with colitis that were not treated with antibiotics. These studies attempt to leap to the conclusion that less than half the horses treated with antibiotics will show the presence of pathogenic bacteria that might cause colitis (but sometimes do not). It is just not a clear enough association.

Most people involved in this area of research and clinical management agree that much more focused research needs to be done. Foreman and Cohen feel more work needs to be done to identify the risk factors at the individual horse level. Knowing these risk factors would help owners and veterinarians to identify those horses that are more likely to have an adverse drug reaction and to develop colitis with certain antibiotics.

Foreman and Cohen feel the effects of stress on individual horses and their interaction with antibiotic use should be evaluated. Much research is under way to develop tests that would allow a veterinarian to quickly and accurately identify pathogenic bacteria and their toxins present in a horse. These tests, many using new deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA) methods, would allow the veterinarian to recognize, at a much earlier stage, a horse that is at risk for developing colitis — hopefully, before the horse was administered antibiotics.

These horses then could be treated appropriately, monitored more closely for development of diarrhea, and possibly treated with antibiotics, although with a lower risk of developing colitis. The drug metronidazole (Flagyl) has been shown to have some potentially beneficial effects when used in cases of C. difficile colitis, and the antibiotic doxycycline (a form of tetracycline) seems to have a lower rate of gastrointestinal side effects. Another treatment option, Saccharomyces boulardii, which is a probiotic yeast, is being investigated for its potentially beneficial effects in treating and preventing colitis.

Clearly, these projects and others are providing horse owners and veterinarians with a better picture of the issue of antibiotic-associated colitis. But the original problem still remains: how to handle the possible side effect of colitis when deciding whether to use antibiotics in the horse.

Risk versus benefit

Many veterinarians feel such decisions ultimately come down to risk versus benefit. What are the risks of treating a condition with antibiotics versus not treating?

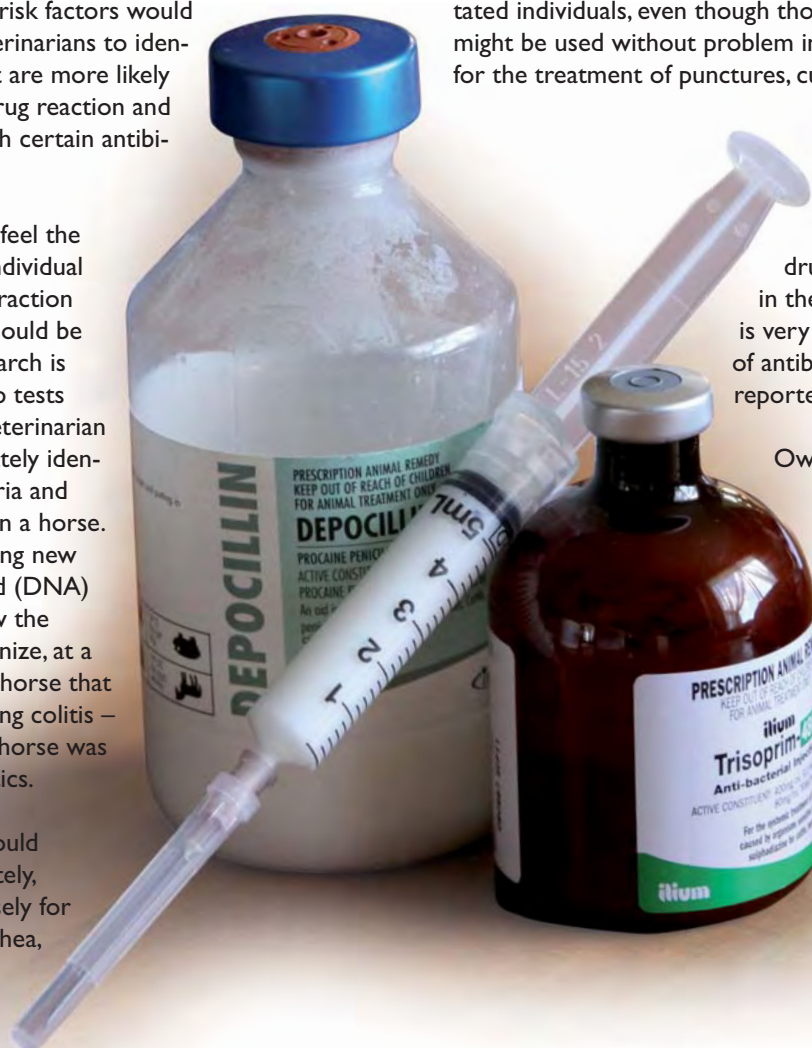

Equine veterinarians have been urged continually to use appropriate antibiotics only when needed in an attempt to slow the trend toward creating antibiotic-resistant bacteria. This policy should be applied in situations that might cause antibiotic-associated colitis, as well.

If the risk of infection and possible serious consequences is legitimate, antibiotics must be used. At the same time, the veterinarian should try to avoid using those antibiotics known to potentially cause colitis in already sick, febrile, or debilitated individuals, even though those same drugs frequently might be used without problem in generally healthy horses for the treatment of punctures, cuts, and other wounds.

Antibiotics have been of great benefit in the treatment of horses, and their use will undoubtedly continue. These drugs are the "good guys" in the medicine cabinet, and it is very unsettling when a case of antibiotic-associated colitis is reported.

Owners and veterinarians should be cautious when using antibiotics, and each case should be discussed carefully when the decision for or against antibiotic use is made. More research will provide more information and, hopefully, will identify risk factors that will make those decisions easier and more accurate.

Kenneth L. Marcella, D.V.M., is a practicing veterinarian in Canton, Georgia.

2010 SOUTH AUSTRALIAN PAINT STATE CHAMPIONSHIP SHOW

It was a fantastic day and with the pre-event -All Breeds Western Show- the day before, everyone was well into show mode. Our judge on the day, Lorelei Payne, did a wonderful job. Again we were lucky enough to have a small entourage of Victorians cross the border, which was great because we don't have a lot of Paints here in SA – but we certainly have some good ones ...

With the Halter classes all over for the morning, we had a well deserved break and were able to sample the delicious "Chicken Rolls" that were made by a very rare breed – "Canteen people". We moved on to the Ridden classes and Jacinta Brennan showing Ain't I Mr Cool for Jack and Bridget Denherder took out the All Age Hunter Under Saddle Futurity in great style. This horse went on to be Runner Up High Point Junior Paint Horse with another great win in the All Age Western Pleasure Futurity. Sadly Ain't I Mr Cool had an accident less than two weeks after the Show and had to be put down.

A big thank you goes to all who made it such a good weekend and many of the competitors went home with the great buckles we had as prizes – So Buckle Up and we will see you all next year for an even bigger and better show!
