President's Report

Hello Everyone

On the long drive home to Tassie from Tamworth and the National Show I have had time to ponder the week and its outcomes. Overall it has to be said that it was a great success thanks to the show team and by far the comments received from you, the competitor, have been nothing but praise. I can say that I received less than a handful of negative comments. Of most importance was the number of "first time" competitors who were glowing in their comments not only about the show as a spectacle but the other Paint members who made them feel so welcome. For that I thank you all.

Our American judges held nothing but praise for the show and the enjoyment they had while here in Australia. They made special comment on the quality of your horses with one judge commenting on a specific class of mares that "it was one of if not the best line up I have judged worldwide." It says a lot about the manner in which those of you who breed take to the task and the importance of continual improvement you place on it.

It appears that the idea of holding the show following on from the Halter Breeders Group has also been a success as well and appreciated by a large number of competitors. The Board would appreciate feedback on this particular aspect of the show so we can determine if we continue with it. I personally see it as a good thing but I am not paying the camping and entry fees for both shows. Conversely you only have to travel there and back once while enjoying two high value shows.

Additionally, your feedback on any aspects of the show would be appreciated so as it can be discussed when the Board has its National Show wash up. I know it gets frustrating for some when they approach me with an issue and I ask for it to be put in writing to me. I am happy to get it via any means, (email, letter etc) but by doing this it ensures I do not forget and let it slip through the cracks. This way it also means I will get back to you personally with a resolution to your problem or concern or if not a resolution be able to hopefully offer a viable way ahead. At the National Show I had a lot of people raise issues with me and I would genuinely like to assist with every one so please tap away at the keyboard or pick up the pen and contact me.

I must say it was also great that many of you took the time to stop me and just have a chat, I really appreciated your positive comments about the direction of the PHAA.

In finishing with the National Show and for those who were not at the end of show awards, Carol our long time Show Secretary, has called it a day. At the time those present made it known to her the value she has been to us over the years and that she will be sorely missed.

On behalf of the PHAA I presented Carol with a little something from the Association. Afterwards I made a passing comment that in saying farewell to Carol the PHAA would now commence the process in looking for a replacement Show Secretary albeit a hard act to follow. If you think this may suit you please put in an expression of interest to Jodie and when the Board, in conjunction with the Office, have revisited the position description we will be in touch. The Board will ensure that it is advertised for the awareness of all.

In conclusion I would again like to reiterate that if anyone has a concern or a problem please contact me or the relevant Director in the first instance. I am more than happy to take your calls and discuss any issue and I know the other Board members hold a similar view.

So please if you are having any difficulty or just need the facts contact the office or your Directors.

Until next time,

Malcolm Hume

Editor's letter

Welcome to the June issue of the Paint Journal

We have a bumper issue of show results with the PHAA National Show and the ARBC Reining in Dalby. It's great to see so many coloured horses getting out there doing well.

Thank you to the stallion owners that have advertised in this issue. The quality of the Paint Horse stallions is truly outstanding, with the Paint Horse also competitive in open company, be it ridden or halter.

Please contact me if you have or know of a Paint Horse out there competing with a story to tell.

Deadline for the next issue is the 1st August so please book early.

Take care until next time.

Office News

Jodie Saville

Hello everyone,

Well I have survived my first National Show as a worker not a competitor and would like to congratulate all competitors on their professional presentation of self and horses it is always a pleasure to watch the quality in the ring, a comment passed on by our International Judges who found it hard judging such quality.

I would like to thank Carol Gleeson our retiring Show Secretary for leading Katie and I through the ins and outs and sharing all her trade secrets with us on driving the National Show.

I can say I had a great time albeit some very long hours, and must also thank the capable show team of Ralph, Jan, Carol, Karen, Don who are very ably led by Peter Simpson, I look forward to working with you all next time. Thank you to Craig Dengate the outgoing Director and National Show Manger for your guidance also.

The Office is excitedly working toward a bigger and better National Show in 2017, along with the Board we have listed to your comments both at and after the show, and will try to incorporate those suggestions that are workable in the coming years.

We are about to enter the new Membership and Points Year, we will be forwarding membership renewals out shortly for your convenience of ease of payment, remember we do have two new membership types this year, $95 for an associate membership (those that don't own a horse or show anymore) and also an introductory membership for first time members for the first year at the same price.

We welcome Steve Conn as our newest Director on the Board and look forward to another great year with the whole team.

There will be an updated PHAA Rule book released shortly, all Rule request updates from the past 18 months will be reviewed to ensure they are all captured, we will aim to update the Rule book on an Annual Basis which enables compliance to be much simpler for everyone.

If you have any feedback, questions or suggestions please drop me an email office@painthorse.net.au

Non-Traditional & Paint Promotion Report

Nicole Steinberger

Congratulations to all who competed at the National Show. I think the huge classes in the Ranch Sorting, and the Ranch Versatility Classes, show to all that our non-traditional field is growing.

I would like to showcase some members competing in non-traditional fields next Journal, so please email me with your information and I'll put together an article.

The more non-traditional fields we can get on board, the more our Paint Horses will be showcased. If anyone would like information on the incentives available, please contact me on Nicci 0428 394 890 or painteddreams@bigpond.com.

Nicole Steinberger

MAG-E

by Kohnke Photo:Tania Hobbs

Kohnke's Own Mag-E is a very popular nutritional supplement that has been specifically formulated to correct low dietary levels of nutrients that are essential for correct nerve and muscle function.

Magnesium deficiency is a common problem in many horses as magnesium may be poorly absorbed from the diet. Magnesium competes for uptake and absorption in the horse's digestive system with calcium, potassium and iron, particularly if there is excess phosphorus in the diet. Horses with magnesium deficiency may show signs of nervous or anxious behaviour. Some horses will struggle to concentrate or focus on the handler or rider, or have difficulty coping with unfamiliar places and changes in the daily routine.

Magnesium deficiency can be corrected with supplementation of magnesium. Over many years of research and trials, Dr. John Kohnke has found that a specific form of magnesium, an organic, 'chelated' magnesium proteinate, has the best absorption and utilisation in horses. The magnesium proteinate in Mag-E reaches the absorption sites in the small intestine as a protected amino acid, avoiding competition from other minerals in the diet, such as calcium, iron, potassium and phosphorus. Mag-E contains this special chelated magnesium to maximise the effectiveness of magnesium supplementation to reduce nervous, anxious or reactive behaviour.

Mag-E also contains Vitamin E, an important antioxidant for nerves and muscles and Vitamin B1 which is essential for nerve transmission. Mag-E also has a special, stomach-calming base of debittered yeast which is beneficial in maintaining a healthy digestive system and a healthy appetite in nervy horses.

Benefits of using Kohnke's Own Mag-E

- Mag-E helps to maintain normal nerve and muscle function by correcting the levels of magnesium, vitamin E and vitamin B1 in the diet. When the correct levels of these nutrients are present in the blood then the nerves and muscles are able to function properly.
- Mag-E helps to correct fizzy and nervous behaviour. Mag-E helps the horse to be more focused on the handler rather than what is happening in its surroundings. Horses are more relaxed during work and competition. This is a safety benefit for the handler and rider.

- Mag-E can help reduce stress during travel and competition. Reducing stress can help to reduce the risk of lower airway disease and gastric ulcers.
- Mag-E is ideal for use in young horses being broken in or entering their first training programme. It helps them to be able to cope better with their new environment as well as stressful periods of handling.
- Mag-E works quickly and results can usually be seen within the first 3-7 days of supplementation. We recommend that double doses of Mag-E be given for the first week, so that the organic magnesium, vitamin E and vitamin B1 can build in the horse's system. After the loading dose, the normal doses of 15 g for a 500kg horse are economical at around $1 per dose (RRP including GST).
- Mag-E is a popular supplement for high level competition horses, as power and 'flair' must be balanced with willingness and focus. Mag-E can be safely fed at double the normal dose rate for 3-4 days before and during competitions to help promote calm performance. Mag-E is also great for pony club horses to help them stay focused on their young riders.

- Mag-E does not contain any restricted substances so can be safely used on competition or race days.
- Mag-E is extremely palatable. The vanilla flavouring tempts most horses. Mag-E can be simply added to the feed or given in a paste of water and cooking oil over the tongue.

Testimonials

"I was recommended by a friend to try Mag-E for our young horse entering the show ring for the first time. He had never been out like this before so I was a bit nervous about how he would cope with it all. I started adding a dose of the Mag-E to his morning and night feed for five days prior to the show. He tended to be a relaxed horse to start with but within two days of starting on the Mag-E I could notice the difference. He was a lot more focused, his attention span was much longer and he was just generally easier to handle. On the morning of the show I gave him a double dose over the tongue before we left. He was an absolute pleasure at the show. He remained focused on me throughout, he did not spook at anything and just seemed to enjoy it all. Mag-E has helped his first experience in the show ring be a great one and this is so important for his future career."

A S, NSW

"I had a very fizzy, nervous Thoroughbred gelding that I use for competing in dressage events. He was on a well-balanced diet that did not include a lot of high energy grains. He was very nervous whenever he was handled. Spooked at everything that moved when I would ride him. He was becoming harder to handle; he could not seem to focus on any of his work. He even seemed really sensitive when I would brush him he didn't like it at all. He could not settle if a stable mate was moved away from him. I was advised to add Mag-E to his diet. After the third day on Mag-E he became far less sensitive, he actually started enjoying being groomed. Within a week he was a totally different horse. He was so much easier to handle. He was relaxed, focused, much more confident. He did not spook as easily; he was a lot more settled even if his friends were not there. Competing on him is now an absolute pleasure, thank you Mag-E!"

YOU BE THE JUDGE

How wonderful it was to see so many of our Youth taking part in the Junior Judging Competition at this years National Show. Twelve professionally presented Youth members improving their skills and having the opportunity to take the place of a judge. The official judge for the class was our visiting American judge Delena Doyle of Texas USA.

Youth member Samantha Bone contacted Jeffrey Hall, who was the Youth director at the time, and requested the event be added to the PHAA National Show. The board approved the request and the event was added to the program, as a non-pointsoring class at the 2016 Nationals, being its first “trial” year.

The competition will help our Youth develop their skills in evaluating Paint Horses in a show situation, training them what the judge has to see and do ,make decisions upon this and to build confidence in their reasoning and judgement.

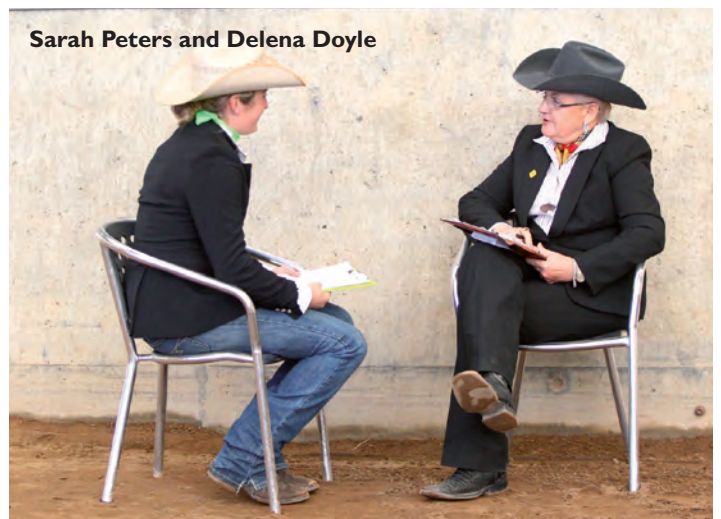

A single halter class of four beautiful horses was run, all Youth taking the place of and with the judge, watching the horses track to them, check teeth and trot away to be stood in a line up. All horses were then inspected by the group as would a regular halter class.

Competitors were then given time to record their results and write down their reasons for placing the horses in the order that they had done. One at a time each was interviewed by the judge and given an opportunity to explain why and how they placed the horses in the class.

As with all of our classes, there are rules to be observed and decisions to be made. Prior to the class the competitors were given a brief overview of what would be required and the scoring system explained to them. A total of 30 points were allocated, five for overall presentation, five for correctness of places (as compared to the judge) and 20 for the reasons given as to how the places had been decided upon – the evaluation of each horse and comparisons between each placed horse.

Sarah Peters and Delena Doyle

The event is weighted on the reasons section, as with most events at a show there is some subjectivity involved and not every judge sees things the same way, particularly in classes that are not specifically scored. You only have to watch a multi-judge show or futurity class to appreciate the variances in opinions at times.

After the physical judging section was complete the interview takes place, in the arena. Quite an ominous task to sit down with the judge and tell her your opinion of the horses and how you had placed them. Delena commented on how well everyone went and that several of the competitors would hold their own in collegiate judging competitions in the USA, very encouraging!

Talking with some of the competitors after the event it was evident that this had given them a whole new perspective of what happens in the show ring and what a judge is expected to do, there were some very positive remarks and no doubt we will have this event at future shows, possibly expanding with additional classes.

Poultices

By Kath McDowell Photos: Tania Hobbs; Shutterstock

The practice of applying poultices to the body goes back a long way and was a major way in which medical results were achieved. It was also something which remains in our cultural consciousness as although we all know what a poultice is, very very few of us actually use them at all or maybe, have never even seen them used. There are remnants of the Poultice still found in the practice of "Blistering" which is really a poultice gone wrong.

Let me explain.

In medieval medicine, the Doctors of the day wanted to produce immediate and dramatic results to convince their patients that their medicines were powerful and therefore worth the money they charged. Most medical practitioners therefore used very strong formulations which produced violent purging (Vomiting, Diarrhea, Sweating, Mucus Production, Skin Eruptions etc.) in the internal medicine department (try taking salts of Mercury, Arsenic and Antimony by mouth example). In the poultice department they wanted to produce a dramatic effect on the skin and "blistering" was one of those.

I would suggest the reason that we somehow all know what a Poultice is, has something to do with the business of our ancestors watching a family member being subjected to some such brutal poulticing, an overly strong mustard plaster applied to the chest to treat congestion or a scalding hot mud pack applied to a boil. All this while everyone (except the victim) was standing around calmly saying how good it was for the squirming, screaming suffering patient probably being held down by several people. A very powerful learning experience and likely to persist for several generations, I am sure you will agree.

Poultices are all external treatments usually applied directly to the skin although they can be applied over a cloth or paper barrier to protect the skin from damage. Like any other medicine a properly managed poultice will produce positive effects and no excess pain or tissue damage.

The reasons for Poulticing are as follows:

- a. To bring heat to an area: Heat improves circulation and mobility of fluids within the adjacent tissue. This can speed healing; minimise scarring; reduce muscular spasm; or assist in drawing toxins together to be expelled from the body.
- b. To act as a drawing agent; to suck or to assist the flow of debris or toxins through openings in the skin.

- c. To hold in contact with the skin herbs; beneficial to the healing processes taking place in the area of the poultice. Comfrey, Garlic, Castor Oil are examples of herbs used in this way.

All poultices consist of a Carrier: (some sort of mash, mud or slurry) and some healing substances usually herbs, oils or chemical substances mixed with the carrier or applied under it. The carriers can be applied Hot, Warm or Cold (never so hot as to burn or blister) Poultices are usually held in place by loose bandages or wrappings of some sort and are therefore often difficult to apply over bulky muscular areas of horses. They are however ideal for the lower legs which is an area subject to many problems in competition horses.

In a well formulated poultice the carrier also has beneficial properties in itself. There are a limitless variety of carriers and you can use your own imagination in formulating your own.

Some Poultice Mixes which I recommend are as follows but they can all be combined or varied to suit many different situations:

Linseed Meal Porridge: mixed with Linseed Oil and Minced Comfrey Leaves applied warm to any ligament or bone injury. Breaks, Chips, Splints, Torn or Bowed Tendons will speed up recovery by a factor of 3 or 4. They can be replaced every couple of days.

Slippery Elm Powder Poultice: mixed with Castor Oil. These can be made quite small and used as a drawing poultice for cleaning out wounds or infected material. Please note that if using Castor Oil, (which is a good enough drawing agent to make a tetanus needle unnecessary in the case of a deep puncture wound), you must only use it when there is a hole to draw through. Castor oil in the eye will draw metal filings out of an eye wound and on the teats will draw and clear mastitis between one feed and the next.

Rosemary Oil, Wintergreen Oil, Mustard, Cajeput (Tea Tree) Oil are all heating agents. Mustard and Cajeput being quite capable of blistering as they heat by irritation. Most "Blisters" contain Mustard which should only be in small enough quantities to heat but not blister. A heating poultice should produce no more than a little swelling, any more and it can be counter productive. Certainly anything which blisters is often doing much more harm than good.

Boils and spontaneous discharges of pussy material are interesting and should be encouraged to run their course. A good strong immune system is quite capable of expelling toxins from the body. The infection which sets up in a boil should not be treated with antibiotics but rather seen as part of the mechanism which will soften and break open the skin at the site of the problem so that the whole mess can be expelled. Lancing boil or treating it with antibiotics can increase the risk that the expulsion is incomplete and the body is left to deal with the toxic debris in some other way. Also have you noticed that boils don't become infected sores, they do their thing and close up and no infection seems to get in through the opening! If you were worried about infection you can crush some fresh Garlic to include in your poultice with Castor Oil for your tetanus treatment of a dirty wound. Garlic is a powerful and natural antibiotic.

DMB THE INVESTIGATOR

By Adam and Amy O'Connell Photos: Tania Hobbs, Mel Cruden

In 2007 DMB The Investigator was born at Burke Stud.
He was sired by their stud horse, DMB Intimidator, out of the imported mare Shes So Awesome.

Sire - DMB Intimidator

Dam - Shes So Awesome

DMB The Investigator, or Benji as he is more affectionately known, was then given the opportunity to be shown and prepped by Adam O'Connell for Burke Stud.

In that time he was shown as both a weanling and a yearling taking out both Weanling and Yearling Solid Futurities at the PHAA National Show, as well as being awarded Grand Champion Colt both years. Benji also won this same award at the NSW Paint State Show.

At the end of his yearling year an agreement was struck, which saw Adam O'Connell become the proud owner of this promising young sire. As a two year old Benji was again shown at the PHAA National Show, where he won for the third year in a row the 2 Year & Over Halter Futurity, as well as again being awarded Grand Champion Colt.

In 2011 Adam relocated to Qld taking DMB The Investigator with him. He was then shown at the Qld State Championships in 2011 and 2012 where he won the 2 Year & Over Halter Futurity and was awarded Grand Champion Solid Colt, going on to win Supreme Paint Bred Exhibit for two years in a row. At this time he was now owned by both Adam and Amy O'Connell.

After Benji's successful show years it was decided in 2012 that he would retire to light breeding duties. In the last two years he has been awarded Runner Up Hi Point Futurity Stallion with only limited progeny shown at the PHAA National Show and this year being awarded National Champion Get of Sire.

Last year his book was closed, but this year his book will be open to a limited number of mares as the O'Connell's are excited to continue to see his babies, not only winning at the big shows, but also being successful with their Amateur and Youth owners.

Not only is DMB The Investigator's progeny doing extremely well, they are also being very highly commented on by some of our well credentialed international judges.

WA STATEWIDE PAINT HORSE ASSOCIATION 20TH ANNIVERSARY STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The SWPHAWA celebrated their 20th Anniversary recently by welcoming judge Lee Ann Hall from Hallmark Farm in Dubbo, NSW to judge their State Championship Show, held at the State Equestrian Centre on March 13th. Lee Ann was impressed to see a number of Paint and Paint Bred horses beautifully presented and shown in a wide range of events including Halter, Showmanship, Led Trail and Lunge Classes and English and Western ridden events. A number of feature events (open to all breeds) were also held with some high quality horses presented for judging.

As with all events, the day would not have been possible without a large number of ground staff and workers making sure the day ran smoothly. Many thanks to our lovely ring steward Georgia Brandham, Show Secretary – Kellie Lynn Stewart, Gate Marshall – Lana Denteith, Photographer – Julie Brandham, Natalie from the Blue Cow Café for her lovely food and much needed drinks and the many others who put in a major effort to make this a wonderful 20th Anniversary Show.

The Association was also fortunate to have the support of many and much appreciated sponsors, allowing them to present some great prizes including cash, beautiful garlands, rosettes and vouchers to the winners and place-getters in all classes, as well as High Point Buckles to Amateur, Youth, Junior and Senior Horse Winners.
